BUND LEADER KUHN GRILLED BY U.S. GROUP

Used American Relief Funds to Aid Hitler

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Fritz Kuhn, leader of the German Bund, was grilled today by the House of Representatives committee investigating anti-American activities today that the influence of his brother, Justice Max Kuhn, had played any part in his selection as leader of the German-American Bund in the United States.

Kuhn was ordered to answer a question of this nature after Chairman Martin Dies (Dem-Texas) had cut short the witness' vigorous protests that internal affairs of Germany could have no connection with bank activities in America.

When Kuhn balked several times at answering "yes" or "no" questions by Rhea Whitley, for the committee, Representative Thomas (Rep-New Jersey) charged Kuhn was making "every attempt to evade questions."

170,833 WELLS ARE AFFECTED BY SHUTDOWN

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 17.—Shutdown of oil wells in six states, one of the most widespread curtailments of raw materials ever attempted, took approximately 70 per cent of the wells in Oklahoma, Louisiana, Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana and New Mexico and left in a series of price cuts of 100 cents in the first half of 1939 than it was the last six months of 1938.

The "shut down" in Oklahoma, Kansas, Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana and New Mexico left in a series of price cuts of 100 cents in the first half of 1939 than it was the last six months of 1938.

State regulatory agencies had no reports of wells producing in violation of orders.

Fears there would be widespread unemployment faded as surveys and company announcements indicated less than 10 per cent of 200,000 workers in the oil fields would be temporarily discharged.

The others will be held today, half-day or will repair machinery.

Huge Increase In Retail Business In United States
WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—The United States commerce department announced Wednesday that retail business was about $1,000,000,000 better in the first half of 1939 than it was the last six months of 1938.

Not only that, it said, but the increase was achieved despite a fall in prices.

Prices of general merchandise were about 25 per cent under a year ago while retail food prices were off about 35 per cent. Thus, unit sales increased even more than the dollar volume.

Peril Knocks At Door

Freedom Of Mankind To Be Next War Issue Asserts Earl Baldwin

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The freedom of mankind will be at issue in the next war, former prime minister Stanley Baldwin of Great Britain asserted last night after the group he addressed had been criticized as "merely a propaganda agency to help entice America on the side of Britain and France" in the event of war.

Ralph Borsini, economist, asserted the suggestion of propaganda made the suggestion of propaganda and criticized the Congress on Educational Democracy for not including speakers from the so-called dictatorial.

"SPEAK FOR MYSELF"
"It was comes," Baldwin said in his prepared speech, "it will find a people united as we have never been before, powerful in material resources, and believing in our rights that on the issue depends ultimately the freedom of mankind."

Declaring that "I speak for no one but myself," Baldwin said "a democracy should work for and be prepared to die for his democratic ideals, as the Nazis and Communists are for theirs."

As to the "perils facing democracy," he said they were "real; they are knocking at our door."

"Ideas are the nations of the world joining together, and ideas lead at boundaries," he asserted.

He said ideas lead to world unity, and that they may show systems that appear founded on a rock into fragments. I need not tell you that such ideas are those of Bolshevism and those propagated by the Nazis and Fascists.

"The truth is that the vast majority of our people have forgotten."

London Times Avers Danzig's Settlement By Force Means

By WALLACE CARROLL
British United Press. Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin.
LONDON, Aug. 17.—The Times, most influential newspaper in the country, took occasion today to reaffirm that any attempt to settle the Danzig problem by force would immediately send Great Britain and anti-aggression nations to war.

At the same time it reaffirmed the government position that there is no European problem including colonies, which cannot be solved by negotiation.

It bitterly denounced what it called a monstrous betrayal of Germany's word at the Munich conference, and it said that as part of any European agreement, disarmament must be effected. The Nazis policy of expansionism must go and the Czechs must be set free.

Particular significance was attached to the editorial first because the Times frequently reflects the official government policy; secondly because it was a paper like the Times could be a convenient sounding board for an editorial statement of policy; and thirdly because of diplomatic reports that for Karl L. von Driesbach, German ambassador in London, had been given a paper like the Times could be a convenient sounding board for an editorial statement of policy.

The committee would provincial government assistance to have provisions in federal government act extended to Alberta.

The minister also stated that they were prepared to discuss with the Alberta government's executive committee members, which would be adequate protection to private individuals, who with the loss, money for home building. If such an order-in-council was passed it would have to be ratified by the legislature at the next session, the minister said.

FIVE MILLION IN DEBT CUT BY PROVINCE

Three-Month Over-All Surplus is $316,607, Treasurer Reports

Decrease in the total public debt of Alberta of $1,100,000 from March 31 to June 30 last—a three-month period—was recorded in the quarterly provincial government financial statement for the three months period ended June 30, issued Thursday by Hon. Nelson E. Low, provincial treasurer.

At March 31 last, the total public debt, the combined funded and unfunded debt, was $1,100,000,000, while on June 30, it had been reduced to $1,098,893,333, a reduction of $1,106,666,667.

STURGES also shows that for the three-month period ended June 30 the overall cash surplus on the income account, excluding new borrowings, debt redemption and final instalments of the 1938-39 term of the railways is $316,607.31 against $371,427.40 for the corresponding period of 1938. A decrease in overall surplus of $54,819.09.

MAJOR PROBLEM FOR TREATMENT CANCER SOLVED

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—A cure by a Canadian doctor for "radiation sickness," which has been a major obstacle in giving cancer patients X-ray treatment, was announced today by the American Cancer Association.

The discovery was reported in the association's journal by Dr. J. Wallace Graham of Toronto, Ont., who said he had discovered a form of the vitamin B complex, proved "definitely effective" in relieving the illness in 743 per cent of 79 patients to whom it was given.

Of the 70 cases, 271 per cent showed "excellent results" and 47.2 per cent showed "good results."

Facts for Dr. Manion

The Tory leader made a pointed attack on Mr. Mackenzie King on Tuesday. When his statement is stripped of its rhetoric, however, the main fact which emerges is that Dr. Manion did not like the prime minister's speech at the Toronto banquet. That is hardly a matter over which Canada need long trouble itself. As it happens, pleasing Dr. Manion is not one of the duties of Mr. King's office.

Dr. Manion overshoot the mark in his zeal to score debating points against the prime minister, for in several instances he did not treat facts with due respect.

He claimed the Liberal government was living in the past and had no message for those in dire need today. In 1935 the number of wage earners in the Dominion was 2,518,000, while there were 509,000 wage-earners registered as unemployed. That year the Liberal party came into office. Since then the shrinkage in unemployment, while by no means spectacular, has been sure. In May, 1939, there were 2,724,000 wage earners and only 395,000 Canadians unemployed. The record is impressive.

It would be absurd, naturally, to claim that the policies of the Liberal government alone created this improvement. Great world forces are at work that mould the economic life of nations in a pattern which all statesmen in large measure must conform. But Dr. Manion argues the Liberal government not only has done nothing to help reduce unemployment; he actually charges its policies have had a harmful effect. There apparently is no sophistry so great it cannot impose itself upon the imagination of a Tory advocate.

When the Bennett government was dismissed, the manufacturing payroll aggregated $559,467,777, and manufacturing production had reached $2,653,911,209. In 1937, the last year for which exact figures are as yet available, manufacturing production rose to $3,623,159,500, while the manufacturing payroll rose to $721,727,037.

Dr. Manion keeps crying blue ruin, but the trade and business index is eloquent in its rebuke of his light-hearted disregard of the facts.

Caught in the tow of the depression, the Liberal government came to power just as the crisis in Europe began to deepen into stark tragedy. Since that date there has been neither confidence nor security between states, with the disastrous effects such an attitude of mind must have upon trade and industry. In spite of these grave difficulties, Canada has held its head up and is still, despite Dr. Manion's taunts, moving steadily forward.

Albertans First

There can be no excuse for giving jobs to men outside this province on the harvest fields when there are many native Albertans ready and able to work. An unconfirmed Winnipeg report said 2,000 men are being engaged there for harvesting in Alberta.

Judging by the response that report elicited yesterday from Alberta Employment Service officials, Winnipeg will have to wait until the Albertans men who need jobs are first taken care of, before any outside help will even be considered. That decision will meet, with overwhelming public approval here.

Fifty men a day are leaving Edmonton to work in the fields. For many of them it will be the first long spell of work in months. They need the money, and employment officials will be doing the wisest thing possible in insisting that Albertans receive first preference in farm jobs that may be available in Alberta.

The Middle Class

Professor Pitkin, who still believes life begins at four, has a new idea for which he stands ready to do battle. The crusading scholar is founding a "League of the Middle Classes" in the United States. He evidently has the same opinion about social classes Voltaire had about the English. "Like their own beer, froth on the top, dregs at the bottom, the middle, excellent."

The professor thinks our age wants to cheat the middle class of its virtue and integrity. He becomes quite excited as he warms up to his spirited argument. So excited, in fact, that he hardly is a good advertisement for his own theory of growing old gracefully.

Perhaps Mr. Pitkin is wrong to take either himself or the middle class so seriously. May it be possible through bitterness that the middle class got along fairly well before it became concerned about its future? For all we know it may manage to muddle through without the inspiring guidance of his leadership.

That wise essayist, Christopher Morley, says that when some people earnestly tell us to think a thing through, it is a sure sign they are all through thinking. What the United States needs is a League to prevent Professor Pitkin from becoming so solemn.

Sales Go Up

For the first half of the calendar year, exports of Canadian products show a gain of $71,000,000 over the figures for the corresponding period of last year, reaching a total of $462,000,000. Roughly, the export trade has climbed back halfway to the high level of 1937. For June alone there was a gain of $27,000,000, a moderate increase over the gain for May, indicating that the upward movement has not spent its force and may be expected to touch higher marks in the remaining months of the year.

On the import side the trend has been in keeping. For the five months ending with May we imported about $20 millions less than we did in the corresponding five months last year. June figures for imports are not yet available. The "warfare" given by Mr. Bennett a year ago, that imports were growing faster than exports, therefore no longer holds; it is the imports which are now lagging behind.

However satisfactory this may be to our "mercantilist" doctrinaires, it is not a healthy development, because during the first five months of this year we sold abroad well over $100 millions more goods than we bought. That balance is too "favorable" to be safe. We should be buying from our customers abroad more nearly the amount we are selling them; else the time may come when they will be no longer so heavily. Parliament should have taken another layer off the tariff wall and let goods come in more freely, in order to stabilize the growth of exports.

The record shows that export figures and unemployment figures move on the see-saw principal. As the former go up or down the latter go down or up. The marked gain in exports means that on farms, in factories, on railways and steamships, more Canadian are employed than there was a year ago, or could be now if there had not been this enlarged demand abroad for Canadian products.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

Col. Drew, leader of the Ontario Conservative, is asking—in speech to Ontario farmers—that the Japanese in Canada be asked to leave the country.

The sentiment may be good, but the suggestion is valueless. When Japan, be it engaged in farming, fishing, or mercantile, is going to pack SURELY KNEW up and return to Japan because Col. Drew suggests he should.

Japanese enter Canada and remain here by virtue of an Imperial Treaty which, among other things, protected the Pacific coast of Canada from being raided by Von Spee's squadron during the early months of the Great War.

The Treaty seems to have outlived its usefulness so far as expressing a friendly attitude of mind, but until it is repealed the frugal energetic Jap has as much legal right in Canada as anyone.

It is not enough for city aldermen to awaken before the ratapatters with boasts of what they're going to do to keep Asia out of Canada. It is lamentable when a provincial opposition leader tells farmers that the Japanese should be requested to pack up and go.

You can understand simple women being enmeshed in the intricacies of marriage and divorce law—believing, as many do, that they can enter upon a legal marriage after being deserted for seven years. But what cost of Canada from being raided by Von Spee's squadron during the early months of the Great War.

A HARDSHIP ON WOMEN should have to wait seven years to apply for a presumption of death order, which only protects them from a bigamy charge should come back and claim the wife he so cruelly treated.

Divorce is granted for an act that anybody with a modicum of common sense and a little deliberation and intention in its cruelty is the act of the man who runs away, leaving his wife matrimonially high and dry for the remainder of her life.

It would be harsh enough if the English law were adopted here and an absolute divorce be granted after three years of desertion.

With a truly profligate disregard of self-interest, British doctors in session at Aberdeen volunteered the information that more headaches are caused by mental irritation by actual physical ailments. The arrival of unwanted visitors, loud voices, pondering over unpleasant thoughts, and the like, are all causes of headache.

HEADACHE AT PRESSION, worry, insomnia and FAIR TIME

Anybody knows how unpleasant it is to give up one's bed because Aunt Maria from the country has suddenly dropped in to stay. That's enough to give one a pain in the neck. We should give our sister invitations to "Come up and see me some time."

Order from the Nazi chiefs to confiscate all royalties and fees from the music of Strauss, the waltz king, doesn't outrage justice so much as the novel intention of the Nazis to confiscate the property of the Czechs and Slovaks. The descendants of Strauss by marriage have been living on the harmonies of the ancestor. It's a moot point as to how many generations should be allowed to live on the brainwave of an ancestor. But the order to cut the Czech forests at a rate of 150 per cent of the annual growth means the despoiling of the forests with their woods.

The Czech people have a deep affection for their forests, which is imaged often in their national music and poetry. Their forests were among the best controlled in Europe under strict government supervision. Any landowner who failed to report at the rate of cutting was severely punished. And the Nazi rule, he is punished if he fails to cut less than the fixed figures furnished him. Germany needs the pine forests for cellulose. That's the knack of making subject people love them.

Britain sent a 1,900 bombing and fighting planes into the air a few nights ago for a practice flight. Eight hundred of them, it is said, practised bombing of 500 attacking planes. A four-hour blackout of the counties over which the attack was made, was observed.

There seems only one policy left—maximum armaments and a maximum willingness to maintain the peace. These are days of world madness.

BURN BIG LOGS

I have a friend whose home has a great fireplace in which he burns only big logs. Apparently, he has never had the joy of sitting for a while evening before blazing big logs that require no attention.

In our huge Canadian fireplace our logs often keep burning a whole day through. In their stead, the light and friendly glow of the Edmonton "Burn big logs" think great thought; do spacious deeds; cultivate Kingdom-wide interests.

Once a wealthy friend told me, "It is as easy to make a million dollars as a thousand." Being a poor writer I must know nothing about that; but I do know that it is as easy to give one's mind to great concerns as to trifles.

Ever Thos art summing up to larger lives. O Lord, in discipleship to Jesus, who lived a great life in a commonplace lot, we would put away carnal cares, of lustiness, and be imitators of Him. Amen.

Payment of Teachers

The depressing conditions that exist in the teaching profession throughout the Dominion, as revealed in a report of the Research Committee of the Canadian Teachers' Federation, presented at the opening session held here yesterday, cannot but cause widespread dissatisfaction. The statistics presented show the following astonishing facts:

More than 10,000 teachers in Canada are paid less than the mean legal minimum for female juveniles in industry.

More than 18,000 teachers are paid less than the mean legal minimum for experienced women in industry.

About 25,000 teachers are paid less than the girl who binds the text-books.

Nearly 37,000 teachers, or about 62 per cent of all Canadian lay teachers, are paid less than the mean minimum for unskilled factory labor.

About 53,500 teachers, or more than 85 per cent of the total number, are paid less than skilled union workmen.

The Committee, in demanding that in the national interest a survey should be made of the Canadian teaching profession, and of the monetary value placed upon their services, says: "To put it bluntly, more than half the teachers of Canada live at the lowest level of self-support, and the majority are exalted in a more light was thrown upon their condition."

This, it cannot be denied, is an indictment with which the teachers of this country are vitally concerned. We see to it that our working classes get a minimum wage which is sufficient to enable them to live decently. We see to it that certain branches of what has become known as "the white collar brigade" are well paid. The men and women who are entrusted with the education of our children, however, are in a state that cannot possibly be conducive to helping them to discharge their duties as well as they are able. They are not living conditions that mean daily anxiety and daily perturbation.

The reasons that have contributed to this rather shocking state of affairs have not developed over a long period; they differ as between the various provinces. In some, however, deep-rooted they may be, there should surely be some method by which the general standard of remuneration is made in this direction. The report, "are doing the first-hand job of educating the masses" should be placed on a scale that enables them to maintain their self-respect.

Until a movement is made in this direction, Canada will remain, so far as her educational system is concerned, under a painful reproach of which no self-respecting Canadian citizen can be otherwise than deeply ashamed.—Montreal Star.

To the Verge of Ruin

Seldom has the tragedy of our time been spoken more awesomely, or more pathetically, than in the speech by Mr. Chamberlain to the British House on Wednesday. This was not the utterance of the head of a nation which wants or glorifies in such indignities as hunger or cold, or boat, or which wants to "encircle" its neighbor. It was the speech of a statesman who has hated war passionately, who knows its horrors and brutality, who is giving all of a great heart and soul to avert it. More, this speech was the solemn declaration of one who perceives not merely the calamity of war but the peril of going on in preparation for war.

"One must admit that the situation in which the accumulation of weapons of war is going on on an immense scale and at such a pace is one which cannot but be regarded with anxiety. Indeed, it is difficult to see what the solution of this problem can be, unless it is to be resolved by war itself."

And further, "If one could halt this war of words, and if in addition some action could be taken which would tend to restore the confidence of the people of the peaceful intentions of the states of Europe, still this thing is no question of peace could not and should not be solved by peaceful discussion. If that could be done the gains for all would be incalculable, and the world would look forward, I am firmly convinced, to a period of increasing, unexampled prosperity, in international and agricultural production, which would result in a general improvement in the conditions of the people."

That is true. Some there are who think that all this manufacture of armaments must mean prosperity. It doesn't. A national economy kept to a war level is a national economy hurried up by the most dangerous and least helpful of all artificial stimulants. In the end it can bring only loss and disaster and at no time does it bring more than a temporary gain at the cost of waste. People sometimes speak of the "prosperity we enjoyed during the last war." It was not prosperity. It was an orgy of waste for which we and all the world are now reaping the harvest. The world of the world had to pay a ghastly price ever since. Nearly everything that we suffer now—all the anarchy of personal financial and social conditions, all the crushing debt and taxation that are upon us—can be traced to the fact that there is no question of the verge of ruin.—Ottawa Journal.

On This Date

By FRED WILLIAMS

This can be considered the birthday of the oldest carrying trade in the world. It was on Aug. 16, 1822, that the York Dragons regiment was organized as the capital of Upper Canada. In 1887 its name was changed to the Queen's Light Dragoons, and later in that year it broke took part in the chase after William Lyon Mackenzie and his dupes, doing much to round up the unhappy farmers of York county who were left off to linger for months in rotten jail.

A further change came in 1868. Then the name was changed to the Governor General's Body Guard, which did efficient service on the frontier in the two Fenian raids, 1866 and 1870, and was permitted to go west in 1885, but owing to personal jealousy was only to the the patrol duty at the base, although the dignity of Colonel George Taylor Denison was in jeopardy. Perhaps that was the reason; he rarely got on well with Ottawa.

World Congress in Montreal in 1942

Editor, Bulletin: Much publicity has been given in the press and cinema to the 108 marriages celebrated recently in the Montreal stadium in the presence of thousands of spectators. This seems a unique event.

If one delves into the history of French Canada, we read about an occasion of mass marriages at the end of the colony, when direct marriage was the custom. In the case of Champlain to bring out to Quebec a thriving population of families who were chosen for their future life-mates upon landing.

The reason for these 108 recent marriages is very different. The movement behind them is the J.O.C. What is the J.O.C.? The Jeunesse Ouvrière Catholique or Catholic Labor Youth movement was first organized in Canada at the city of Montreal in 1932 by Rev. Henri Ouellet, who is now general chaplain and general director of the J.O.C. This organization of 40,000 labor members throughout the Dominion is non-political. Its activities are multiple and always in view the betterment of life of its members and happiness of its members both at work and at recreation. The aesthetic side of life is not neglected; free lessons are received in the grammar, music, elocution, literature, painting, etc. The chief aim of the J.O.C. is to help labor and adhere to Christian principles in the home.

These marriages were not required but, on the contrary, selected. Each prospective groom had to receive at least $25 per week, and the bride and groom possessed a life insurance policy of $1,000 for each other's benefit.

In 1942 the J.O.C. will have reached its 10th birthday and like its elder sisters in Belgium and France, it will hold its 10th annual world congress at Montreal which will also coincide with the tricentenary of the foundation of that city formerly known as Ville-Marie. (Name) VALERIE P. BOULANGER.
